Creative Arts and Media presents the

Ossa Music Prize

2024

UNIVERSITY of TASMANIA

Established in 2018 and named after Tasmania's highest mountain peak, the Ossa Music Prize is generously provided by Dr Rod Roberts alumnus of the University of Tasmania and Mrs Cecile Roberts. The prize supports an individual student or a student ensemble of up to 3 players to pursue excellence in musicianship and performance. The prize value is $2,500 and additional financial support underwrites a state-wide performance tour. The tour will include a performance in Queenstown in memory of Margaret Stoermer, thanks to an extension prize gifted by her son Christian Stoermer.

Eligibility

The prize will be awarded to the strongest applicant (which may be an individual performer or an ensemble of up to 3 players), with a preference for classical music performance, following shortlisting and critique of applicants by a panel to ensure balanced representation of the Music program over time.

Selection process

The selection process will consist of three rounds, with the third round being a public performance. The recipient will be the student or ensemble who satisfies the panel as the one most ready and prepared for the experience.

First Round

Written applications will be shortlisted, taking into consideration the quality of the application which includes:

1. A written statement that addresses
    - The applicant/s' interest in taking music to regional Tasmania, and how their musical performance will contribute to the cultural life of regional Tasmania
    - The concept for their musical programme and the music to be performed (think of this as a curated event, not just a medley of items)
    - Touring plan and any extra personnel and/or equipment that would be required
    - How winning the Ossa Prize would benefit the applicant/s. Please detail what the prize money might be used for.
  2. A short CV
- Shortlisted applicants will be invited to perform in the Second Round.

Second Round

Closed performances will be held on Thursday 13 June 2024 at the Hedberg, and will consist of:

1. Performance of two (2) contrasting pieces of music, lasting no longer than 15 minutes total;

2. Short interview conducted by the audition panel regarding your proposed ideas for the concert tour of regional Tasmania.

Shortlisted applicants will be invited to perform in the Third Round.

Third Round

The final round – a public performance – will be held at 6pm on Friday 26 July 2024 at the Hedberg. The performance will consist of a program of no more than 10 minutes of your choice of music. The prize will be awarded at the end of the evening.

Expectations of the successful recipient

The successful recipient(s) will play a series of concerts on a state-wide tour with a special focus on the North, North West, West and East Coast regions in early September 2024.

The successful recipient(s) will be expected to act as ambassadors for the music program and University of Tasmania at all times (before, during and after the tour!), and:

1. Keep a travel diary and document their experiences;
2. Submit a report of their trip detailing the experiences and how they have benefited from the opportunity;
3. Perform in a Hedberg event within three months of returning.

How to apply

1. Download and complete the application form at utas.edu.au/creative-arts-media/music/ossa-prize and
2. Email your completed application form together with supporting information (1. Written statement and 2. Short CV) to CAM.Admin@utas.edu.au by midnight, Friday 24 May 2024.
